Ohio Given Notice To Reapportion

U.S. High Court Also Overturns 8 Sit-In Convictions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ended its 1963-64 session Monday by overturning the conviction of sit-in demonstrators in eight cases and applying its "one voter, one vote" rule to the legislatures of nine more states.

The sit-in cases, which involved trespass convictions in Maryland, South Carolina, North Carolina and Florida, were decided on narrow technical grounds as the court failed to deal with this basic question: Can a merchant refuse service to a Negro and then have him arrested for trespassing if he refuses to leave the premises?

Justice William O. Douglas indicated that the justices were deadlocked on this question, commenting that the issue "consumes the public attention, yet, we stand mute avoiding decision of the basic issue by an obvious pretense."

Justice Hugo L. Black, joined by Justices John Marshall Harlan and Byron R. White, opposed the court's refusal to come to grips with the key question and said "the 14th Amendment does not forbid this application of state's trespass laws."

The reapportionment rulings, involving the state legislatures of Michigan, Iowa, Illinois, Oklahoma, Washington, Florida, Idaho, Connecticut and Ohio, were based on last week's ruling that both houses of state legislatures must be based on population only.

This decision capped more than two years of court rulings on apportionment of legislatures and Congress. Earlier this year, the high court ruled that the population test must be used in setting up congressional districts.

The court Monday handed down its second important decision of the session involving the Communist party. It overturned a portion of the Subversive Activities Control Act barring passports to members of groups officially designated as Communist by the government.

Two weeks ago the court let stand a decision by the U.S. Court of Appeals which threw out on technical grounds the conviction of the Communist party for failing to register as a subversive group.

2 Killed And 3 Hurt In Crash

4 Vehicles Pile Up At Washington, Pa.

WASHINGTON, Pa. — Two persons were killed and three hurt today in a four-vehicle crash on Interstate 70 a mile west, State Police reported.

Dead are Temple White and Minnie Cole of Memphis, Tenn. Admitted to Washington Hospital in "fair" condition were Thomas B. Harvey of Zanesville, and Mrs. Addie Dumas, 53, of Memphis. Mrs. Verda Bradshaw of Memphis was treated.

State Police said a car of the Rev. Booker Dumas, 54, of Memphis was halted on the Route 70 overpass above Route 40, apparently out of gas, when it was clipped behind by a car of Myron Turner, 19, of Delaware, Ohio.

A truck driven by Harvey swerved to avoid the cars, and rammed into the side of the overpass. A second truck, a tractor-trailer rig, driven by Eugene Boyle of Hazelton, Pa., slammed into the Dumas car, police said.

Speaking Of Contrasts

Tugboat, Raft On River

Tied up at the Broadway wharf, the homemade raft, "Kaput," of William Fisher of Baden, contrasts with a modern, new tugboat slipping down the Ohio River in the background, suspended between two Union Barge Line barges. Fisher is cruising to New Orleans with Bob McCreary, 19, and Bill Hood, 16, both of Baden. Dravo Corp. built the new tugboat at Neville Island and is shipping it 4,000 miles to New York Harbor via the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers.

A product of the jet-age, and another of the Mark Twain era, were among the craft that moved down the Ohio River past East Liverpool today.

The new vessel was a diesel tugboat, built only 400 miles from New York Harbor where it will enter service this summer, but making a 4,000-mile trip to get there.

The other was a homemade raft, built of oil drums and scrap lumber, operated by a modern-day "Huck Finn," William Fisher, 67, of Baden in Beaver County. Fisher is cruising to New Orleans.

The vessels, of course, are years apart in design and cost. Built by Dravo Corp. at its Neville Island shipyards near Pittsburgh, the 110-foot long, 2,400-horsepower "Isabel A. McAllister" tugboat is being towed down the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers to New Orleans.

From there, the vessel will travel under its own power to New York City, arriving in late July.

Fisher, who shoved off Sunday from Baden aboard his homemade raft for the cruise to The Crescent City, invested only about $60 in his craft.

Cost of the new tugboat, twin of one that Dravo shipped to New York earlier this month via the same route, is close to a million dollars.

Fisher's raft locked through the Montgomery Island Dam north of Midland at 8:34 p. m. Monday.

Named the "Kaput," Fisher's raft is powered by a 1950 auto engine. It has a rudder and a plywood cabin. He estimates the trip will take the rest of the summer.

Dravo's new tugboat moved down the river suspended between two barges. Because its normal operating draft is 13 feet, 6 inches, it is too deep for the minimum nine-foot channel of the Ohio River.

Steel chains were attached to four lifting points on the gunwales and to a pair of A-frames welded to each of the barges. While shipyard cranes raised

Scranton Spurs Nomination Bid

HARRISBURG, Pa. — Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania took his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination to neighboring Delaware and New Jersey today.

With a combined delegate strength of 52 votes, the two states were first on a list of regions to be visited by Scranton during his second full week of an 11th-hour bid to overtake and surpass the front runner for the nomination, U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

After a morning appearance in Wilmington, Del., Scranton was to cap the day by giving the principal address at a Newark, N.J., $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner.

Wednesday Scranton will visit Charleston, W. Va., and Miami, Fla. His staff was working on appearances in Ohio and Michigan later in the week.

The current Associated Press delegate poll shows that in Delaware all 12 delegates are committed to favorite son Sen. John J. Williams. Scranton's people believe they can capture at least 7 of those votes, if released by Williams.

The figures for New Jersey showed 8 for Goldwater, 2 for former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, 1 for New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, 4 for Scranton and 25 uncommitted.

In the AP poll Goldwater's total indicated delegate support would give him more than enough for the nomination — if the support held up through the first ballot at the Republican National Convention in San Francisco.

Scranton said during his 4,000-mile flying tour of five Midwestern states last week that his objective was to visit every delegation he could that was not legally bound to Goldwater.

Scranton told a news conference Monday that results of his first tour in the Midwest were "better than I expected." Asked to specify states from which he

5 Cited For Trespassing In Midnight Pool Venture

A 21-year-old East End man and four juvenile companions were cited on trespassing charges by police early today after an alleged midnight invasion of the municipal swimming pool at Thompson Park.

Officers said more persons apparently were involved and they have the clue to prove it. After the roundup, one pair of trousers was found on the pool premises that did not fit any of the defendants. One of the would-be midnight swimmers apparently fled in such a hurry that he left his trousers behind, police said.

The adult defendant was identified as Richard A. Peters, 1172 Harker Ave. He was arraigned this morning before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a trespassing charge filed by Patrolmen Paul A. Burson and David K. Mumaw.

However, the court continued Peters' case until Wednesday morning after police advised that the East End man and the four juveniles all are due before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin today at Lisbon. Judge Chertoff said he will await the Juvenile Court's decision before hearing Peters' case.

Officers Bursons and Mumaw said they took the five suspects into custody at 12:03 a. m. All were on or near the pool premises, but none actually was in the water, they said. However, Peters' shorts were soaked as

Murder Case Motion Slated

Young To Request New Hancock Trial

NEW CUMBERLAND—Judge James G. McClure will hear arguments on a defense motion for a new trial for Robert M. Young, 34, convicted June 11 of first degree murder of a neighbor, Wednesday morning at 9 in Hancock County Circuit Court.

If the jurist refuses a new trial, sentencing of Young is likely to take place, officials indicated.

A jury of 10 men and two women convicted Young of first degree murder in the shooting of George Merckich after a four-day trial. The jury recommended mercy, sparing the defendant the death penalty.

Merckich was shot three times with a .32-caliber rifle Aug. 3, 1963 while standing in the doorway of his rural home. Prosecutor Floyd R. Tarr produced evidence in the trial indicating a "romance" between Mrs. Young and Merckich was the motive.

'Foreigner' Arrested Attempt To Kidnap Khrushchev Foiled By Swedish Police

Man Admits Plot Against Soviet Chief

Anti-Red Unit Had Openly Threatened Red Premier's Life

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Swedish police have smashed a plot to kidnap Soviet Premier Khrushchev and hold him hostage for the release of political prisoners behind the Iron Curtain.

Police confirmed that at least one man, described only as a 30-year-old foreigner, was arrested Monday near Haga Castle, where the Soviet leader is staying during his five-day state visit.

The man reportedly confessed that he and several other men had planned to smash their way through the castle gates in a truck.

The newspaper Aftonbladet, which has close connections with the Swedish government, said the man in custody was a Hungarian. Police declined to confirm this.

There also was speculation that the plot was hatched by members of the Ustashi, a fanatic Croatian anti-Communist organization which fought for the Nazis during World War II.

The Ustashi reportedly has a strong membership in Sweden, which is haven for about 30,000 refugees from Communist countries.

Two weeks before Khrushchev's arrival in Sweden, the newspaper Expressen said the Ustashi had threatened openly to kill the Soviet leader.

"Khrushchev will die in Sweden," Expressen quoted a Ustashi leader as saying.

County police Supt. Aake Magnusson signed the charge sheet against the arrested man. Magnusson described a report by a Stockholm newspaper that the plotters were armed with submachine guns as a "dreamed up story."

In the wake of the arrest, the 5,000 policemen in Stockholm for Khrushchev's visit were reinforced by two special commando units.

At Haga Castle, only one gate was kept open and it was protected by scores of uniformed police and plainclothes detectives.

Taylor, new chairman of the joint chiefs of staff will be succeeded in that post by Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, now Army chief of staff.

Johnson said Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has not yet recommended a successor to Wheeler in the top Army post.

Reds Contend Flights Illegal

Pan Am Defies Warning, Flies Berlin Air Route

BERLIN (AP)—A Pan American World Airways jet from New York flew through the Berlin air corridor today, defying a warning from the Soviet Union it could not guarantee the plane's safety over East Germany.

In a protest note Monday to the United States the Soviet Union called the New York-Berlin service illegal and disclaimed responsibility for the consequences if it continued.

Pan Am refused to cancel the flight and the jet entered the 110-mile long center corridor on the last stage of the flight.

The aircraft touched down at Berlin's Tegel Airport at 1:27 p.m., 28 minutes ahead of schedule.

It left New York with 77 passengers, 10 of whom were booked through to Berlin. The plane made stops at Iceland and Scotland. None of the passengers had voiced any concern over the Soviet warning.

A Soviet note to the United States and Britain claimed the recently inaugurated flights were illegal because they had not been approved by the Communist East German regime.

A Pan American spokesman said the flights three times a week, which reach Berlin after stops at Keflavik, Iceland, and Prestwick, Scotland, will continue. Other flights are scheduled to depart Wednesday and Friday.

"Our position is that we have not been notified that these flights are unlawful and until we are, we will continue them," the spokesman said.

"We don't negotiate with the Soviet government, the State Department does. The State Department and the West Berlin government gave their approval and until the State Department withdraws its approval, we will continue to operate jet flights into Berlin."

State Department officials in Washington did not regard the Communist warning as ominous. They pointed out that the Soviets had given similar warnings in the past.

Up to May 30, when the New York-Berlin flights began, Pan American had been making flights to Berlin that originated in West Germany. These flights were set up with Soviet agreement after World War II to supply occupation forces in Berlin.

The Soviet Union claims, however, that any flight originating outside West Germany is not essential to the Berlin garrison, and not covered by the postwar agreement.

Other lines flying to West Berlin are British European Airways and Air France. The French flights originate in Paris and stop at Frankfurt en route to Berlin. The British airliners fly direct from London.

Vacation Checks To Hit $406,000

Ten major ceramic plants in the East Liverpool district will distribute over $406,000 in annual vacation pay to 3,389 employees.

With a few exceptions, the bulk of the money will be disbursed by Friday. Some firms already have made the payments and others plan to issue the checks on an individual basis as each employee begins his vacation.

Payments for the current year are down only slightly from 1963. Last year, the same plants disbursed $413,900 to 4,302 employees, so the amount of vacation pay is down by $79,000 while the number of participating employees has fallen by 913.

THE TOTAL number of area ceramic plants fell from 11 to 10 with the closing of the Edwin M. Knowles China Co. in December 1962. In its last year of operations, Knowles disbursed $48,000 in vacation pay to 480 workers.

In 1962, ceramic industry vacation payments in 11 plants totaled $453,800 for 3,869 employees. In 1961, the companies disbursed $457,500 to 4,200 workers.

In 1960, the payments totaled $446,000, with 3,847 employees sharing. In 1959, $426,000 was issued to 4,276 employees. In 1958, $442,500 was paid to $4,604 workers.

THE LARGEST amount ever paid was the $510,800 distributed in 1957. The $485,000 distributed in 1953 was the second largest in the 18-year history of pottery industry vacation pay.

The first checks were issued in 1946 under a union-management agreement worked out by the U.S. Potters Association and the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters.

In the first year, the workers

Ohio GOP Will Pass Up Goldwater On 1st Ballot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Republican delegates have agreed unanimously to pass up Sen. Barry Goldwater's first-ballot nomination bid at the San Francisco convention.

Congressman John Ashbrook predicted after the caucus decision here Monday that the Arizona senator will get about half of Ohio's 58 votes on the second ballot "if there is one."

The caucus decided to cast Ohio's 58 first-ballot votes for "favorite son" Gov. James A. Rhodes, thereby averting a possible Goldwater-Scranton split.

Former U.S. Sen. John W. Bricker, named chairman of the Ohio delegation, said delegates will be free on subsequent ballots to vote for Goldwater, Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton or others.

Ashbrook, an early Goldwater backer, estimated the senator would get 32 to 35 Ohio votes with 26 to 23 going elsewhere, "presumably to Scranton."

"I know of 18 who are going to vote for Goldwater regardless," Ashbrook said after his forecast of at least 35 for the senator.

"We are satisfied with the setup," Ashbrook told newsmen. "We are satisfied with the vote. We are happy."

Delegates also moved State Chairman Ray C. Bliss a step closer to consideration for national chairman by picking him to succeed Congressman Clarence J. Brown as Ohio Republican national Committeeman.

Couple Hurt In Fog Crash Near Lisbon

Man, Wife Injured Returning From County Home Duty

A Lisbon couple, both employees of the Columbiana County Home, were injured this morning when their small foreign auto was rammed by another auto on a foggy intersection of Route 30 about three miles west of Lisbon.

James Caldwell, 50, of 115½ W. Lincoln Way, Lisbon, night watchman at the home, and his wife, Pearl, 51, a nurse's aide, were returning from work when the crash took place at 7 a. m.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Caldwell pulled from County Rd. 412 — which leads to the home — into the path of a 1957 sedan driven by Arthur Emery, 21, of New Eagle, Pa.

Caldwell suffered fractures of the ribs, bruises and abrasions of the left leg and lacerations of both arms.

His wife received a possible fracture of the left arm and elbow and a laceration of the left leg.

Emery was headed west on Route 30, officers said, when Caldwell drove out onto the highway. The site is in a low area near a creek, and there was fog about, the officers said.

The 1960 Renault sedan was demolished in the crash, and the other sedan received about $400 damage to the front, they added.

Walter Ulrich, 35, of Salem R. D. leaped from his motor-scooter on Pigeon Rd. in time to avoid serious injury when a pickup truck, turning at an intersection, hit the scooter and dragged it 52 feet.

Officers said the truck, operated by Alfred Adrulis, 36, of Lisbon R. D. 1, turned from Depot Rd. onto Pigeon Rd. about 6:45 a. m. and hit the scooter of Ulrich, who had stopped.

The patrol said the window of the truck was fogged and An-

The board also administered written tests to six women for the post of board clerk from which Robert Cole of Salineville resigned to leave for a new banking job at East Palestine.

Gartrell, a native of Leesville, is a graduate of Kent State University.

He replaces Charles Temple, who has been appointed to a band post with Jackson Local District near Canton. The board last night accepted the resignation of Temple and his wife, Mrs. Sondra Temple, who has been an elementary teacher.

Taking the clerk examination last night were Mrs. Doris Adams of near Salineville, Mrs. Mary Sweeney, Miss Sally Russell and Miss Cheryl Young of Salineville, Mrs. Frank McIntosh of Bethel Rd. and Mrs. Glen Dixon of Route 39 near Wellsville.

The board is expected to announce appointment of a clerk at a special meeting next Monday night when interviews will also be held for applicants for various teaching and coaching posts.

Although Bliss remained non-committal, the 56-year-old Ohio chairman observed that "I would not under any circumstances consider serving as national chairman unless I was a duly elected member of the national committee."

Bliss has been a "bonus" member of the national committee since 1952 by virtue of his post as state chairmanship. He indicated he would serve in a dual capacity as national committeeman, subject to approval of the convention opening July 13. Mrs. Katharine Kennedy Brown of Dayton was named for another term as Ohio national committeewoman.

Charge Dropped For Check Case Against Soldier

At the request of the complaining witness, an affidavit was withdrawn today in Municipal Court against an allegedly AWOL soldier accused of issuing a fraudulent check.

Larry Finlay, a St. Clair Ave. market owner who was the complainant, was permitted to withdraw the affidavit against Kenneth T. Dean of W. 4th St. Authorities indicated the defendant had made restitution for an allegedly fraudulent $55 check issued last September.

But police said Dean still is being held for military authorities. He is accused of being absent without leave from the 82nd Military Police Detachment at Ft. Bragg, N. C.

Dean was taken into custody early Saturday morning at his home. In the struggle which resulted, Police Lt. William E. McDaniel was injured slightly.

Beaver Falls Resident Has Brother Arrested

BEAVER — Acting on the complaint of John L. Ciotti of Beaver Falls, his brother, William C. Ciotti, 34, of Northside, Pittsburgh, has been held for court on charges of larceny of an auto.

John, a window washer, said his brother, William, stole the car May 24 from a house where he was staying on Northside.

John said he came out of the shower just in time to see William depart in the $3,055 auto.

William, a bartender, insisted that he had helped provide the down payment for the car and that it was half his, although registered in John's name.

William said John agreed to let him have the car for a month to seek work.

But when William returned the car to Beaver Falls last Friday, John who apparently decided he was not his brother's keeper, had him arrested.

Minerva Boy Fined

LISBON — A 15-year-old Minerva boy was fined $25 Monday afternoon by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin on a delinquency charge alleging he played truant from school and then "entertained" other juveniles in his home, serving them wine. The boy also was fined $15 for contempt of court.

drew $277,000. In 1952, $465,000 was paid to 5,223 employees. In 1949, 5,838 workers received $432,000. The plants paid $430,000 to 5,490 employees in 1948. In 1947, the payments totaled $325,000 for 5,000 employees.

THE CHECKS are issued under a clause in the IBOP-USPA working agreement that calls for a per centage of the workers' net annual earnings, less overtime and other premium pay. Those with less than five years' service are paid 2 per cent of their wages in the preceding year. Those with over five years' service draw 4 per cent.

Only two concerns have scheduled shutdowns to give all employees their vacations at the same time. The others said they do not contemplate general vacation shutdowns.

The Harker China Co. will suspend operations Friday, resuming on July 13. The Pottery Supply Co. will close from Sunday to July 11, inclusive.

In 1963, there was only one general vacation shutdown. Three firms closed for vacations in 1962.

Vacation pay will be disbursed, or already has been paid by: Homer Laughlin China Co., Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co., American Vitrefied Products Co., Harker's, Hall China Co., Louthan Plant Refractories Division of the Ferro Corp., the Ferro Corp. Porcelain Plant, Sterling China Co., Wellsville China Co. and the Pottery Supply Co.

AS ALWAYS, the big Laughlin plant will make the biggest single disbursement of vacation pay. It will distribute about $160,000 Friday to 1,350 employees.

Here's the vacation pay data on the other plants.

TST will distribute approximately $70,000 to 650 employees. The payment is set tentatively for Friday.

Harker's will distribute $27,000 to 260 workers on Friday. Hall China already has paid about $40,000 to 302 employees. The payments were made June 5.

STERLING CHINA will distribute approximately $48,000 to about 420 workers.

Wellsville China expects to pay $12,500 to about 120 employees.

Both Sterling and Wellsville China will disburse the checks on an individual basis as the employees begin their vacations.

American Vitrefied will pay about $26,000 to approximately 140 employees. The payments are made any time in the calendar year as the employee starts his vacation.

Ferro Corp.'s Louthan Plant Refractories Division will pay about $12,500 to 78 workers on July 3.

The Ferro Corp. Porcelain Plant already has paid $6,000 to 28 employees. The payments were made June 5.

Planner Unit Committees Will Organize

The committees of Wellsville's newly formed City Planning Commission will organize at meetings Wednesday night in the safety-service director's office at City Hall.

Ed Pugh, senior presiding member of the commission, said the beautification committee will meet from 7 to 8:30 p. m. and the recreation committee from 8:30 to 10.

Pugh said two other committees, streets and highways and traffic, will meet sometime in the near future.

The commission will meet Saturday afternoon with State Rep. Clarence Wetzel to discuss the proposed Highlandtown Lake project.

The commission plans to make a trip to New Philadelphia to discuss the proposed relocation of Route 7 through Wellsville with Earl Nelson, Division 11 deputy highway director.

The five apparently had invaded the closed pool enclosure by climbing onto the roof of a small shelter house that projects near the fence, officers said. The boy and one of the girls gave their ages as 17 and the other two girls said they are 15.

There were three cars in the area and ownership of one was traced to Peters, but the identity of the other two owners was unknown, officers said.

Two of the girls were on the roof of the small shelter building when officers arrived and one boy and one girl were lying on the ground near the pool's fence in an attempt to hide, officers said.

Joe Walters, Thompson Park superintendent, said there have been prior incidents of after-hours swimming, but the violators could not be apprehended.

Thompson Park authorities said parents should warn their children against the dangers of after-hours swimming, when the pool is unsupervised and there are no lights. They said the danger of accidents is multiplied greatly under such circumstances.

Scranton was asked about published reports that some top Republicans were aiding his campaign privately. He replied that he had been in contact with many party leaders, including two former national chairmen, Leonard W. Hall and Meade Alcorn, before and after he decided to run, but made no direct references as to whether they were supporting his bid.

After the news conference, Scranton flew to Washington and paid courtesy calls on Senate and House Republican leaders to compliment them on their support of civil rights legislation.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois told a reporter that Scranton "popped into my office to compliment me on my support of the civil rights bill." Dirksen said Scranton "was only here for a moment."

Scranton has used Goldwater's vote against the civil rights bill last Friday as a principal issue in the pre-convention campaign.

Scranton Scheduled For Cleveland Visit

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, hopeful of grabbing the Republican presidential nomination next month, will visit Cleveland Thursday in an attempt to woo Ohio's national convention delegates.

Scranton will be reaching for the state's 58 delegate votes.

In Columbus Monday the GOP delegation agreed that it will stick with Gov. James A. Rhodes on the first ballot as its "favorite son" candidate at the July 13 convention in San Francisco.

A Scranton aide said here Monday that the governor has sent an invitation to all those delegates and their alternates to have lunch with Scranton at 1 p. m. Thursday at Hotel Sheraton-Cleveland.

the tug, the chains were shortened until they could hold the vessels at a constant, 8-foot, 6-inch draft.

The Pittsburgh firm shipped the twin, "J. P. McAllister" to New York earlier. The vessels were built for McAllister Brothers, Inc. of New York.

They are the largest and most powerful tugs ever built in the Pittsburgh area and the largest in this country equipped with Kort nozzles and a three-rudder steering system. The vessels will be among the most powerful in the New York harbor.

McAllister will use the new tugs for both ship docking and coastal towing.

The second of the Dravo tugs passed through the Montgomery dam this morning and reached East Liverpool about 10.

over, they are contending the GOP nominees must be pledged to enforcement of the bill's sweeping provisions.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., chairman of the committee, said he would recommend a plank to put the party on record for "prompt and effective implementation" of the legislation which has had strong GOP support in Congress.

"I don't think this will cause any problem in the committee or in the convention itself," Laird said in an interview.

If a declaration of this nature is written into the platform, it apparently will be because Goldwater chooses to placate the moderates and does not choose to invite a convention battle over the platform before voting begins on the nomination.

Goldwater supporters played down the possibility of platform controversy.

Lee Edwards, director of information for the Goldwater-for-President Committee, said he thinks the platform that emerges will be acceptable to his candidate.

A total of eight companies, comprising 20 youngsters each, are expected to participate the first year.

Tough Talks Shaping For UAW, Ford

DETROIT (AP) — Hard bargaining between Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers in their impending new contract talks appeared likely today in the wake of clashing preliminary stands by both sides.

The union charged that Henry Ford II could not understand the worker's position. This was the UAW's reaction to Ford's speech Monday in Coronado, Calif., in which he said willingness to accept a strike was a part of "free and responsible collective bargaining."

Ford, board chairman of the firm, said that union demands could endanger the national economy.

"From his lofty position, it is understandable Mr. Ford can't make out the American scene below of workers producing more than ever yet being shorted in their share of the prosperity they are creating," said Ken Bannon, director of the union's Ford department.

The UAW issued Bannon's statement late in the day, presumably after the union had taken time to study the automaker's remarks.

Negotiations between Ford and the UAW formally open July 1, simultaneously with General Motors and Chrysler new contract talks.

City Authorizes Sale Of 2 Vehicles On Bids

Sale of two city vehicles to high bidders has been authorized by the Board of Control, Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey said Monday.

Vodrey said the board accepted the offer of $201.25 from R. E. House of Newell for a 1958 pickup truck formerly used by the city dog warden and the $376 bid of Keith E. Bishop, 1004 Lisbon St., for a 1961 Chevrolet four-door sedan used as a police cruiser.

The board rejected a $25 offer from Mrs. Clarence Jones of 8th Ave., LaCroft, for a 1963 Plymouth police cruiser, the director continued.

The board has not made a decision on whether to seek new bids for the sale of the 1963 vehicle and a 1929 Seagraves fire truck. No bids were received on the fire truck when the board opened the offers Friday afternoon.

Mechanics At 2 Firms Win Raise

An agreement providing a pay raise was reached this morning in a new contract following negotiations between Ceramic City Local 1019, International Association of Machinists with Turk Motors, Inc., and Litten Motor Sales.

The local had threatened a strike if settlement was not reached on a new contract by this morning. The union members remained idle today while they conferred on the offer, but there was no strike. They will be back to work Wednesday.

The contract includes an increase in the hourly rate from $2.25 to $2.30, retroactive to Jan. 1, according to Tom Kelly, union president.

The flat rate for mechanics was also increased from $2.50 to $2.60, effective March 3, 1966. The flat rate will also be increased by one half if there is any customer rate increase over $5.50 an hour.

The original contract expired March 23 but the mechanics granted a three-month extension. The new contract will expire March 23, 1967.

BUC Office Sets Test On Youth Posts

The East Liverpool office of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation will be among 55 offices open Saturday to administer examinations for counselor aides or youth advisors.

Harry L. Dinsmore, manager, said those desiring to take the test must submit applications by Wednesday. Only one has been filed so far.

The special training course of eight to 10 weeks will be given at 20 universities throughout the nation under a "crash" program to recruit 2,000 counselor aides and youth advisors to assist in the national "disadvantaged" youth program.

Those desiring to take the examination for counselor aides must be unemployed college graduates in the fields of counseling, psychology, sociology, education, social work, social science or related fields.

To become a youth advisor, successful applicants must be unemployed at the time of taking the training, over 21 and experienced or trained in working with "disadvantaged" youth.

The test papers will be graded in Washington and the applicants who pass will be notified by July 10 from Washington.

Probation Check Due Woman In Store Theft

LISBON — A probation investigation has been ordered for Mrs. Mary Ellen Lawson, 19, of Youngstown, who pleaded guilty Monday to grand larceny in the theft of cigarettes from Mason's Foodliner Store of Wellsville.

Trial was to begin yesterday for the woman, indicted by the County Grand Jury, but Common Pleas Court was advised by her attorney that he no longer represented her.

Atty. Richard Kennedy was appointed by Judge Joel H. Sharp as her counsel, and she subsequently pleaded guilty and requested probation.

Domination Isn't The Issue

If Ohio takes its cue from the U.S. Supreme Court and reshuffles the seats in its House of Representatives, it will have only one valid reason for doing so: To equalize, as nearly as possible, the number of people each legislator represents. Underlying the move for reapportionment, however, is an invalid and emotional contention that Ohio's House is controlled by a hard country bumpkin bent on throttling city legislation.

That claim is a hangover from an Ohio of yesterday and ignores the facts of modern-day lawmaking. The notion that farmers are riding herd on the city folk is as outdated as the horse-drawn trolley.

BECAUSE Ohio's Hanna amendment gives each county one representative regardless of population, statisticians have been able to show that less than 30 per cent of the state's population controls more than 50 per cent of the seats in the House.

"Control" is the catch word in the arguments of the Hanna amendment critics. It leaves the implication that a relative handful of rural Ohioans is imposing its influence on the entire state.

In fact, however, the Ohio Legislature has shown no overwhelming coloration of rural or urban in the laws enacted in recent years.

Special interest legislation — bills prompted by situations peculiar to a single county or small portion of the state — is evident in every legislative session. But if you took time to leaf through the nearly 1,000 House bills introduced in 1963, you'd find at least as many of the special interest measures from city as from rural sections.

The closest the House came to a rural-urban showdown in 1963 was on a bill calling for a gasoline tax refund to benefit mass transit companies. And, as it turned out, it wasn't even close.

Although there was strong opposition from small counties which did not operate transit companies, the bill passed the House 88-42. The roll call showed rural and urban legislators on both sides of the issue.

And that is typical today. Except for policy bills and others that bring politics to the fore, legislators are, for the most part, doing just what their constituents elect them to do — they're voting on the merits of the legislation.

IT MIGHT be noted Congress has had a sharp division of rural and urban representation, too. But just because a congressman is from Iowa doesn't mean he's numb to anything outside the corn-belt sphere of operation.

There is a disparity, and a big one, in the way Ohio's House of Representatives is apportioned if the Supreme Court's "one man-one vote" ruling is to be the guideline.

But let's hear no more talk about that shadowy "Cornstalk Brigade." The brigade had its day in Ohio, but hasn't held muster for more than a decade and appears to exist now in reputation only.

Difference With A Wallop

What good will a civil rights law do if its opponents won't obey it?

The question will become pointed when Southern states gang up on the new law the way they ganged up on the U. S. Supreme Court's ruling against school segregation.

But between that court ruling 10 years ago and the 1964 new civil rights legislation there is no valid comparison. The court ruling was an opinion that gave states and localities unlimited leeway to disregard it indefinitely. There was no urgency about compliance.

The civil rights bill will confront its opponents with a different challenge. It is a law, not an opinion.

IT CAN SEPARATE from federal funds if they spurn it. It can throw them into litigation that will cost them money. It has teeth to bite them with, and its overwhelming passage in both houses of Congress constitute a mandate to the U.S. Department of Justice to start biting.

Moreover, in upward of half the states of the Union similar laws have accustomed people to the provisions of this new federal legislation. The groundwork has been prepared for protection of the rights enumerated in the new law. Precedents have been established.

Not only have the legal precedents been established but moral precedents — and these are of the greatest importance. In states that already have confirmed first-class citizenship for all Americans, regardless of color, belief and sex, there will be no general tolerance for non-compliance in other states.

The Brides

Day in and day out during June there is appreciative awareness that this is the month of brides. Why June should be, other than the fact it is the time when school is out and all the young lady schoolteachers are free to go to the altar is one of the obscurities of social practice.

But it is. This year, something more than 220,000 women will be brides and involved in wedding plans, together with their families, the grooms' families and all the elements of a plus-2-billion industry that has evolved around the marriage ceremony.

In the whole year only 1.8 million women will be married, though better than 12 per cent of them will be married in June, showing the bridal month's disproportionate share of the total.

So much for the meaningless statistics of the situation. Far more important is a singular fact observed over a long period of years and never disputed.

This year's June brides, like their counterparts in the other 11 marrying months of the year, are the most beautiful ever — the best turned out, the best educated, the best adjusted, loveliest, nicest, most cheerful, most poised group ever to dive headlong into the sea of matrimony.

We don't know how our civilization keeps doing this year after year, but it does. Next year's brides will be even better. You can bet on it.

Summer Terror

In the wintertime when I yearn for June, thunderstorms and middle-of-the-night "showers" are always conveniently absent from my thoughts.

Also absent are high humidity, doors that swell up and can't be closed, drawers that can't be opened, bake-oven autos parked in the sun, mosquitoes, flies, odd-shaped females galloping around in outfits that make a viewer's eyes water, and hirsute, bulbous-bellied males making a public display of their lack of physical conditioning.

But thunderstorms are the hardest to take.

And the lightning that comes with them. One of our finest trees, a cottonwood with a trunk like a factory chimney, was struck and partly killed by lightning last summer a maple was shattered. Another summer an ancient willow. Twice there has been a disaster to oaks. We take lightning seriously.

Only once have I seen it strike an oak, which withstood the lightning bolt, though the impact caused bark to fly. My fright is rooted in childhood, when every summer storm meant possible tragedy on the farm where I lived during June, July and August.

EVERY CRACKLE and smash of lightning brought an anxious scanning of the barn cupolas to detect evidence of damage, or the tell-tale plume of smoke that would mean ruin.

Every storm that caught us outside brought renewed warnings about not taking shelter under trees that might be struck, not carrying a pitchfork pointed upward, not risking injury if the horses panicked and bolted.

Blizzards can be formidable in winter. But even when the wind howls, blizzards are relatively silent. They are blanketing the earth with snow, insulating it against harm.

A thunderstorm, in contrast, strips the earth and everything on it of all security, leaving cowering man and his quivering environment naked to the fury of that fiery sword wildly stabbing earthward.

IF ANYTHING about this suggests the writer is petrified with fear when June brings not only roses but thunderclaps and lightning bolts, the idea is getting through.

There always has been at least one Twilley dog as scared as the head of the household. There used to be an Irish setter who would get in bed with the master during middle-of-the-night storms, put his head on the pillow and shake uncontrollably until the storm subsided.

He was a great comfort. The noise of the vibrating bedstead could be blamed on HIM.

Halfway Home!

Johnson Gets Word From Labor

By Victor Riesel

In an endless chain of confidential conferences, private dinners and public convention speeches, President Lyndon Johnson has been telling union leaders and labor publicists what they can do to put over his program.

Now they are about to tell him what he can do in the coming presidential campaign to help them put over theirs.

What they want most is a statutory 35-hour work week to replace the legal 40-hour week with no decrease in pay. And they want him to make it an election issue.

This will not be just propaganda or a bargaining gimmick. They mean it. They want it. They'll fight for it during the next few months and insist that the candidates they back pledge to make the 35-hour week the law of the land after the new Congress convenes.

THE FIRST MOVE in the battle will be made by national AFL-CIO president, George Meany, before the platform committees of both political conventions.

On July 8 Mr. Meany will appear before the full GOP policy-making committee in San Francisco to offer labor's platform. The 35-hour week will be featured in the document. It will be considered but don't gamble on its inclusion in the Republican platform of 1964.

In August Meany will offer the same program to the Democrats. They are counting heavily on labor's campaign machinery, especially in the congressional fights. The 35-hour demand will, therefore, trouble the Atlantic City convention.

Officially Mr. Johnson and his secretary of labor are opposed to an across-the-board cut of five hours from the work week. Thus officially the Democrats will probably reject labor's demand.

This will not sit well with the labor forces, which are pooling their funds, rallying their people, producing films and gearing up their precinct machinery in an effort to give Mr. Johnson's ticket "an overwhelming victory."

LABOR WON'T defect, of course. But they will expect private pledges of support on this issue. And in the event of such a "victory" by the President, they will also expect his official opposition "to evaporate" early in the next term.

Most insiders still believe that this high expectation is over-optimistic and that the demand is merely part of their shrewd bargaining strategy for such laws as double time for overtime. Those who think so are unaware of what happened at an unreported closed-door session of the AFL-CIO Executive Council meeting in Bal Harbour, Fla.

On Feb. 21 Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz arrived there on a special mission for the President. At that time the labor leaders were refusing to load wheat for Russia and Mr. Johnson wanted Wirtz to crack the boycott. After some discussion the Cabinet member said, in effect, okay, what else is on your mind; let's talk frankly.

THEY SURE DID. The labor chiefs swung immediately to their demand for a 35-hour week and criticized the President for opposing it. Wirtz responded that while the White House would object to such federal legislation, neither he nor Mr. Johnson would oppose their winning it through future collective bargaining for new contracts with industry.

They pounced on him. They pounded the table. They shouted. It was a rough and tumble session. Few presidential advisers have ever been talked to so bluntly. And most emphatic were Lyndon Johnson's closest labor friends.

The Ladies Garment Workers leader, Dave Dubinsky, asked Wirtz sarcastically, Why don't you fellows come out for a 48-hour week to ease production costs?

MEANY SAID the employment figures did not tell the full story. He said he had told the President that actually there were heavy losses in jobs in private industry and that the statistics which showed higher employment were based on increases in government jobs, hospitals, non-profit organizations and part-time work. The Machinists leader, Al Hayes, charged that the White House was kidding them and was really against such a cut in hours.

The discussion got so bitter that Walter Reuther became the peacemaker.

There has been no change in sentiment since that recent meeting of labor's high command. They appreciate Lyndon Johnson's hospitality. But the campaign is on. They want delivery as well.

More Controversy

By David Lawrence

Supreme Court Interferes In County Finances

A federal court judge actually has threatened to put the members of a county board of supervisors in jail unless they vote this week to a p p r o p r i a t e money to re-open public schools a n d levy taxes to pay for them.

The county board will do so, but under formal protest that the David Lawrence money is being illegally appropriated and that the action being taken is contrary to the specific wishes of the people as expressed in a public petition when the schools were first closed.

This unprecedented situation may prove to be the climax of the whole controversy over desegregation of public schools. For Judge Oren R. Lewis is acting at the direct behest of the Supreme Court of the United States. This is the first time in American history that a federal court has told any legislative body how its members should vote and what funds it should appropriate.

Responding to public sentiment in the community, the Board of Supervisors of Prince Edward County in Virginia decided five years ago to close all public schools. Tuition grants were authorized by the State of Virginia for parents in all counties who wished to send their children to private schools. There was no discrimination in the grants as between white and Negro parents.

NOW ANOTHER federal court judge in Virginia, John D. Buzner, Jr., has just ruled that parents in Surry County cannot continue to receive tuition grants for their children who attend private schools where racial discrimination is practiced. The public school attended hitherto by white children has been closed while the public schools attended by Negroes are the only ones open.

The Supreme Court of the United States in its guiding opinion for the lower court judges has stated that the public schools must be opened in Prince Edward County because in nearly all of the other counties in Virginia public schools are open.

Does this mean that the Supreme Court of the United States at any time can threaten members of Congress, too, and tell them that, unless they cease to differentiate between different sections of the country in the matter of their appropriations, they also could go to jail for refusal to abide by the court's wishes?

Certainly the members of the local board in Virginia's Prince Edward County have been struggling in the last few days with a strange dilemma — to obey a court order or the wishes of the people of the county.

If they decided to go to jail, would many people throughout the United States "demonstrate" in their support and extol them as martyrs? It seems to be popular nowadays for some citizens to dramatize controversial issues by street demonstrations so as to arouse public opinion even if it means going to jail in behalf of certain causes.

ADLAI STEVENSON, who twice ran for the presidency of the United States on the Democratic ticket, said a few days ago in a college commencement address that "even a jail sentence is no longer a dishonor but a proud achievement."

It's reported that several citizens in Prince Edward County are already preparing to file suits in state courts to enjoin the county from trying to collect taxes illegally imposed and in disregard of the actual wishes of the county supervisors themselves. It would be charged that the appropriation was made under duress and is a form of blackmail.

The principle of local autonomy also is at stake. If cities and counties, for example, are to be regarded as merely administrative units of the state and their councils or boards of supervisors are not to be considered autonomous, the question arises as to why the Supreme Court did not impose its decree on the governor or the state legislature, which presumably has complete power over the counties and cities.

The Prince Edward County ruling accentuates the far-reaching power assumed by the Supreme Court to prescribe how the public schools shall be operated.

EDUCATION HAS always been considered a state function in Supreme Court decisions since the republic was founded. Now, however, the rulings indicate that restrictions upon financial aid given private schools and colleges by federal, state, county or city governments may be imposed by the Supreme Court.

Thus, apart from the interference with the operations of the public school system, a new controversy has been opened by the Supreme Court. It revolves around the right of the court to use the 14th Amendment to compel county governments to levy taxes and appropriate money for a specified purpose.

This right, which has heretofore been completely free from such interference, has always been considered to be, under the Constitution, the prerogative solely of legislative bodies.

Menon Awaits Chance

By Darius S. Jhabvala

UNITED NATIONS — The unanimous election of Lal Bahadur Shastri as the second prime minister of India is by no means considered the finish of the left wing-right wing infight within the Congress party for control of the government.

During the days immediately following the death of Jawaharlal Nehru, both sides had acceded to laying down their daggers. Experts point out that the moratorium was the technical reasons and will not last long. They pointed out that it would not have been good politics to stage a prolonged struggle in the week of the death of the revered national hero.

Thus Krishna Menon, the power within the left-wing group, and Morarji Besai, his right-wing counterpart, may temporarily be out of the political scene.

They are expected to emerge as soon as Shastri makes a move that is unpopular with either side on such questions as relations with Pakistan and Red China.

OF THE TWO, Menon is expected to be the most formidable of the opposition leaders since he derives his backing from sources other than only left-wing congressmen.

Independents and representatives of other parties in Parliament, such as the Communist party and the Praja Socialist party, which are far too fragmented to offer individual opposition to Shastri, are expected to throw in their lot with him.

One recent example of intentions was his attempt to keep Acting Prime Minister Gulzarilal Nanda in office long enough to gain time to curb the strength of Besai, who was a candidate for the prime ministership. Though Menon himself was not a candidate for the office, he was influential in preventing a right-wing victory.

Indians have therefore not ruled out the possibility that he still may make a stab at grabbing the reins of the country if he is assured of more backing in Parliament.

They point out that although he was drummed out as minister of defense in December, 1962, Menon has been an influence at the top levels of Parliament. His close associations with Nehru, dating from the 1920s when the two were in London, and among such leading Cabinet members as Jagjivan Ran and Nanda, are prime assets.

AT THE PARTY convention last January it was Menon who was given the honor to propose the complete socialization of major industries to replace the government - private business partnership of the Nehru regime.

Also, Menon's brand of foreign policy—nonalignment and peaceful coexistence has of late gained more favor among the intelligentsia.

The checks on Menon had been exercised by Nehru himself. For as long as Nehru was present, Menon, who helped mold foreign policy, withheld criticism. But with Shastri he will feel free to level bitter attacks.

Voter Apathy

Researchers Explain Attitude

EDITOR'S NOTE—Social researchers in kitchen interviews with thousands of Americans have found an often shocking indifference to politics, even in hot campaigns. How does a republic exist with such attitudes by large numbers of voters? Here's how the researchers explain it.

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Science Writer

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Sometime on Nov. 3, the American voter will step into a private enclosure and cast his ballot.

His political reasoning—his expectations, his hates, his dreams and his frustrations—is melted down into that one act. It has been called "a helluva way to run a country," but it works.

Looking at the American voter under a microscope, he becomes a boiling brew of fact, superstition, prejudice and fantasy. But standing back and looking at the whole man, the total electorate, he becomes the marvel of the age.

Analysts at the Survey Research Center of the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research have been compiling their picture of why the American votes since 1948—with pre- and post-election interviews. They have also stood back to look at the whole man.

Politics—essentially the running of the government—appears to be only on the edge of his consciousness, the outer limits of his world, a low mark on the priority list of personal affairs.

Over half of the voters—the interviewers found—live their lives without becoming involved in party politics to any great extent.

There are some who will deny this—shame them for their ignorance and disinterest, said Prof. Angus Campbell, who heads the SRC.

In a sense, these voters have abdicated their responsibility—but in another sense they have not.

In an earlier, simpler day, everybody could be an expert in public affairs, Campbell said. But today politics has become complex and has more competition with other arenas of life.

You can't be informed about anything without cost. As public affairs have become more complicated—probing space, nuclear energy, Medicare—the cost goes up.

Finally when so many things go on that the voter can't understand, he is forced to delegate responsibilities.

And at times, it becomes quite difficult to see the voter's mind. On Medicare, for example, "I doubt very much if 10 per cent of the voters have an active interest in it," Campbell said. "Yet if you ask them, they will say, 'Yes.'"

For many voters the picture is the instinctive one.

"By and large, the thing that people do react to is some sense that things are not going well—that the economy is going badly, or that foreign events are going badly, or that there is corruption or dishonesty in government," Campbell said.

In fact the voter seems to have a stockholder-management idea of the whole thing. If the management seems to be doing its job honestly, if things are going well, the voter is apparently satisfied and votes to keep the management in, or abstains from voting.

If things are going badly, he votes the old management out.

The campaign often is pictured as a sort of college debate, in which two bright men trade arguments on the issues before an intelligent, informed audience.

But the extensive interviews with the voters shows this is not the case. The debate may favor the image of one candidate over another, however. Many people cited the 1960 debates as improving the Kennedy image, for instance.

Whatever the issues were, the debates for most Americans seemed to be a clash of personalities. For some, they were even less than that.

Said one strong Democrat for Kennedy: "I just watched them for a little while. I don't even know what they were talking about. I really didn't listen very much. I'm sorry. I suppose I should—but I just don't."

And one man—embarrassed apparently after admitting to the interviewer how little he knew of the political picture—said, "If I had known you were coming, I'd have studied up."

And so it goes. From Washington, D. C., the politician salutes forth to debate issues, to argue philosophies, to convince and explain.

But to the American voter the deciding questions are his own political convictions or lack of convictions, his sense of the nation's course at the moment—and the personalities of the men on the ballot.

In times of calm, the voter buoys up the ship of state on the placid sea of his own indifference and apathy. But in times of trouble, the sea rises up—becomes a tide of indignation and frustration, and the politician learns who is master of the ship.

'Tax Crediting'

Ordinance Prevents Dual Taxation

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio municipalities which levy an income tax are avoiding jurisdictional disputes with their neighboring communities, an Associated Press survey shows.

The primary reason is that most communities included in their income tax ordinance a provision for so-called "tax crediting." This provision prevents dual taxation.

Under the provision, a person who works in one community but lives in another is required to pay the tax in the community where he works, but is given credit for that payment in his home community.

Among the 84 cities and villages in Ohio which levy a tax on income, there have been few problems stemming from overlapping jurisdictions.

John Gotherman Jr., research director of the Ohio Municipal League, put it this way: "Tax crediting has resolved this problem and has provided the machinery which has virtually eliminated the possibility of double taxation in Ohio."

Columbus, Cincinnati, Toledo, Canton, Dayton, and Springfield are a few of the state's major employment centers that have income tax agreements with their suburbs. Cleveland has no income tax.

The first municipal income tax in Ohio was levied by Toledo in 1946 but the only major court case involving jurisdiction occurred in Cincinnati which enacted its one per cent levy in 1954.

In that case, a taxpayer in the Cincinnati suburb of Loveland who worked in Cincinnati sought unsuccessfully to be exempt from the Cincinnati tax on grounds he was paying the same tax in his home community.

The matter actually lost its significance when Loveland repealed its tax before the question was resolved by the courts. Loveland voters are scheduled to vote on renewal of the tax this fall but the levy will include a "forgiveness" clause.

The clause will exempt from the Loveland tax anyone who works and pays a similar levy outside the community.

Ohio communities are turning more and more to the income tax to offset the increasing cost of city services. The tax can be enacted by city councils without voter approval but the limit set by state law is one per cent, and the tax can be repealed by means of petition or referendum.

Oddly, there was practically no organized opposition to existing taxes in the communities included in the Associated Press survey. The survey showed that in some cases, labor groups and others fought a proposed tax before it was enacted—then the opposition subsided to the man on the street.

A Cincinnati Finance Department official said: "There is a realization that we have to get the money somewhere."

In Mansfield, voters had a chance to take a look at the tax in action before they voted on it. Council enacted its 7-10 of one per cent tax in the spring of 1960 when its streets were in bad condition. A citizens group immediately set the way for a petition vote in the November election.

An official said: "between May and November the city had continued to collect the tax pending the outcome of the petition ballot, and made quite an impression carrying out extensive street improvements. The tax passed by a 2,000-vote majority."

East Liverpool probably has the most complicated story behind its income tax of any city in Ohio.

City council first enacted the 8-10 of one per cent tax in the spring of 1958. The East Liverpool Trades and Labor Council went to work and had it placed on the November ballot. Voters repealed it.

Council re-enacted the tax in 1959 but again the labor group had it placed on the ballot and voters repealed it again.

In 1960, a citizens committee circulated an initiative petition which, if approved, would have enacted the tax. Again the voters said "no."

Council imposed the tax again in 1962 but this time a court test involving the city and the trades council kept it in abeyance.

Finally, the matter reached the ballot in November 1963 and was approved 3,337-2,671—by a margin of 666 votes.

Local Officers Help Ailing Youth And Man
A 15-year-old Jefferson County youth who was taken ill here and a 55-year-old East Liverpool man, stricken at his home, were taken to City Hospital in Columbus Monday for treatment, police said.

Kenneth Grimes of Box 213, Irondale, who became ill at 2:55 p. m. yesterday while on the Diamond, was taken to the hospital by Patrolmen Charles A. Winters and William A. Devon.

He later went to a physician for treatment of a fainting spell, police said.

Georgia Resolution Hits U.S. Court Power
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Georgia Legislature has approved a resolution urging the state's U.S. senators to seek to take from federal courts the power to decide legislative reapportionment cases.

After heated debate, the Senate approved the resolution by a 33-13 vote Monday.

The House had approved the resolution shortly after the recent Supreme Court decision on reapportionment of both legislative bodies by population. The Senate tabled it the first time around.

Broken Glass Hurts Woman

A West End woman was injured slightly by flying glass fragments when a vandal hurled an unknown object through a pane of glass in the front door of her home early today, police reported.

Mrs. Jean Click, 857 W. 8th St., suffered small lacerations of the right cheek and right hand of the right cheek and right hand in the strange incident at 3:56 this morning, but she declined an offer of transportation to City Hospital for treatment, officers said.

Mrs. Click, wife of Donald Click, told police she was watching television in the front room of her home when the unknown object was thrown through a 4-x-5-foot pane of glass in the front door.

Although she was showered with fragments of the broken glass and cut slightly, she said the injuries were "too minor to worry about," officers said.

Patrolman H. W. Bosworth was dispatched to investigate after Mrs. Click reported the incident to headquarters by telephone.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: As a general rule, your "solutions" to problems are fairly harmless but recently you invaded the field of medical diagnosis and here is where I draw the line.

You told a woman to be patient with her "hyper thyroid" husband and to help him direct his enormous energy into useful and productive channels.

Did you receive a reading of his metabolism, Ann Landers? How do you know whether or not the woman's husband is hyper thyroid?

Do you practice psychiatry, too? If so, did it not occur to you that the man might be a manic depressive? This disease is characterized by hyper-activity in some cases.

I suggest you stick to love problems and leave the medical diagnoses to the physicians. — PORTLAND.

Dear Portland: I do not practice medicine or psychiatry. I send thousands of people to physicians and psychiatrists every month.

My use of the word "hyper thyroid" was not a diagnosis but rather a word employed to describe the man's personality. When I say a person has ice water in his veins I'm not suggesting that I have seen a blood test.

Recently I told a woman she had a cash register instead of a heart. I heard from no cardiac specialists who took this as a literal translation.

I appreciate your letter, however and hope that your nose is back in joint. (And I hope the last sentence does not produce any complaints from nose specialists.)

Weary Of Wooing

Dear Ann: I'm a 19-year-old boy who has been going steady with a fine girl for almost three years.

I would like to break up with this girl but I don't know how to go about it. She is as nice as can be, which is a big part of the problem. If we had a big fight or something, it would be easy. But her disposition is wonderful and she agrees with me on everything.

The thing that makes it difficult is I don't know what has happened between us. I just lost interest, you might say. Our families are very close friends and I'm afraid everyone will be sore at me. Do you think I'm a rat? — UTICA.

Dear Utica: No. If you have lost interest in the girl, that's reason enough to break up with her.

Tell the girl you believe it would be best if each of you were free to go with others. Make it clean — and quick. This is the decent and humane way to end a romance.

is interested. A good hunting dog costs at least $200. If that husband is smart he'll let his wife sleep in the basement or on the back porch. The dog might catch a cold out there. — FREE AND HAPPY.

Dog's Best Friend

Dear Ann: That column of yours which appeared a few days ago included one of the dumbest pieces of advice I've read in a long time. You told a wife she should move into the guest room until her husband decided to put his hunting dog out of the bedroom and into the basement or on the back porch.

A man can get himself a wife by just letting it be known he

Dear Free (and worth every penny of it): I have a message for you from the wives of America. Please stay single and make some nice girl very happy.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Pope Says Catholic Church Eyes Birth Control Problem

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI said today that the Roman Catholic Church is studying the birth control problem in the light of new developments. But he said Church bans on contraceptives remained valid for the present.

It seemed clear that he was speaking of contraceptive pills, although he did not mention them specifically.

The Roman Catholic pontiff discussed birth control in a general speech on Church and world affairs to a group of cardinals.

His words came amid growing discussion among Roman Catholics about the use of contraceptive pills. There have been suggestions that they might be used to regulate the menstrual cycle so the rhythm method could be used with greater precision. The Church rejects contraceptive devices but permits the rhythm system.

Pope Paul said he hoped the studies would soon be concluded.

"But let us say frankly," he said, "that we have not yet sufficient reasons to consider over-coming, and therefore not obligatory, the rules given by Pope Pius XII in this connection."

Use a kitchen scissors to remove the fins and tail of that fish when you bring it home after catching it. With a small sharp knife and a backward movement you can do the scaling next! The scissors will help you slit the fish before cleaning it.

Hunt Pressed For Three In Rights Group

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP)—Mystery deepened today in the strange disappearance of three young civil rights work-ers. They were last heard from Sunday night after paying a speeding fine in this east cen-tral Mississippi town.

The FBI and the Mississippi Highway Patrol pressed a search for the two white per-sons and a Negro, part of the first wave of summer volunteers seeking to reform this state po-litically.

Missing were Andy Goodman, 20, and Mickey Schwerner, 24, both of New York City. With them was James Cheney, 22, a Negro member of the Congress of Racial Equality from Meri-dian.

They came here Saturday after a week's orientation course for the Mississippi "Freedom Summer Project" in Oxford, Ohio. Other workers spread over the state during the weekend to launch voter registration drives and advise Negro citizens of their rights.

With Cheney at the wheel they drove to Philadelphia, re-portedly to see the ruins of a Negro church that burned last week after armed whites broke up a church board meeting.

Officers stopped the three Sunday and charged them with speeding. They were let go after being held in jail several hours. Cheney paid a $20 fine.

Sheriff's deputies said they released them about 10:30 p.m. A spokesman for the Neshoba County sheriff's office said a pa-trol car followed the workers "several blocks to make sure they got out of town all right."

As hours passed without any sign of the trio, concern rose. Cries came from civil rights groups for a search.

In New York, James Farmer, national director of the Con-gress of Racial Equality, called for an air and ground search by the Meridian Naval Air Sta-tion.

The Council of Federated Or-ganizations, one of the groups spearheading the summer drive, said because the three were not heard from Sunday "that means they haven't been physically able to call."

FBI agents arrived in Phila-delphia Monday night. In Wash-ington, Edwin O. Guthman, Jus-tice Department information of-ficer, said the FBI was making a full probe of the "possibility that they are being held against their will or that they are other-wise being deprived of their civil rights."

The Mississippi Highway Pa-trol was ordered to do every-thing it could to help the search.

County Acquires Buses To Serve Retarded School

LISBON — County commis-ioners, at a meeting Monday, awarded a $7,111 contract to Bud Shaffer Ford, Inc., to fur-nish two 20-passenger buses to serve the Retarded Children's School at Elktion.

Shaffer's bid was the lowest of four accepted. It includes the trade-in of a 1955 model 36-pas-senger bus.

Other bidders were: Mackall Motors of East Palestine, $7,041; O. S. Hill & Co. of East Liverpool, $8,945; Lehman Ford Co. of Lisbon, $7,389.66, and Lewis Chevrolet Co. of Lisbon, $8,244. Commissioners said that although Mackall's bid appar-ently was low the vehicles did not meet specifications.

Slag grants of $300 each were awarded to Hanover, Perry, Yellow Creek and Center Town-ships. The city of East Liver-pool was given $43.50 for 87 dogs destroyed in May.

A travel allowance was au-thorized for Probate Judge Lou-is Tobin to attend a probate judges' meeting in Cleveland Friday.

The next meeting will be Thursday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

But there may not be much relief from the humidity as showers and scattered thunder-storms are likely tonight, with some wind, and there may be more showers tomorrow.

The downtown had a rather sticky 67 at 6 a. m. today and tonight's low also will be in the 60's.

Not One Starter Returns To AL All-Star Lineup

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Not a single 1963 starter returned to the American League All-Star opening line-up which will face the National League's best on July 7 at Shea Stadium, in New York.

Three New York Yankees, three Minnesota Twins and one each from the Los Angeles Angels and Baltimore Orioles made up the starting team, chosen by a vote of 281 league players, coaches and managers.

Second baseman Bobby Richardson, who drew 233 votes, the most of any player, headed the Yankee contingent, which included catcher Elston Howard, 217 votes, and center fielder Mickey Mantle, 205 votes.

Mantle was named to the 1963 starting team but a broken leg kept him from playing. His place was taken by runner-up Albie Pearson of the Angels.

The Minnesota trio included first baseman Bob Allison, 80 votes, left fielder Harmon Killebrew, 129, and right fielder Tony Oliva, 176.

Jim Fregosi, who beat out Baltimore's Luis Aparicio for the shortstop berth, 161 votes to 72, was the Angels' representative. Brooks Robinson of Baltimore won the third base nomination hands down, beating Frank Melzone of Boston, 220 to 21.

Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox, is the manager. The White Sox did not even place a runner-up in any position.

Commissioner Ford Frick, whose office conducted the balloting, said the National League starting line-up will be announced Tuesday. The remainder of the squads, including the pitchers, will be announced later.

The American League holds a slim edge, 17 victories to 16 with one game ending in a tie. The National League won last year's game at Cleveland, 5-3.

Reed gave up six hits and fanned 14 batters while Whittington fanned 17 batters to establish one of the highest single game marks of the season and allowed two hits.

Slumping Braves Collect 15 Hits But Fail To Last

MILWAUKEE — The Milwaukee Braves are full of surprises off the field as well as on it.

Gripped in a seven-game losing streak which has plunged the club into ninth place, the Braves gave Manager Bobby Bragan a vote of confidence Monday with a new contract extending through the 1965 season.

Bragan told a news conference "the show of confidence will reflect on the play of our ball club—no doubt about it." He was right to a degree.

Two hours later the Braves went on a 15-hit spree, including five homers. That was something unusual. The final result wasn't. The Los Angeles Dodgers won the slugfest 10-9.

In reply to talk that Bragan's job was in jeopardy because of the Braves' worst position in the standings in 12 years in Milwaukee, President John McHale and board chairman Bill Bartholomay decided to add a year to the manager's contract.

McBurney's, Vernon Dell, Vet Glass Win LL Battles

Rick Shuck won his own game with a double in the last of the sixth to drive home the winning run in a 12-11 victory for McBurney's over the Medics in Little League action.

The loss was the first in the second half for the Medics. In other action, Vernon Dell posted a 6-2 victory over Golden Star and Veteran Plate Glass routed Travelers Hotel, 16-1.

Jerry Christian wallowed a home run while Bill Cox, Bob Cooper and Shuck collected two hits each for McBurney's. Bob Parsons was the losing pitcher. Aaron paced the Medics at the plate with a pair of triples and a single.

Kim Kemple belted a triple, double and single while Fred Henderson doubled and singled to pace Vernon Dell's attack. Fred Brown was the winning moundman while the loss was charged to Klembara.

Mike Smith gave up only three hits and fanned 11 batters in pitching Veteran Plate Glass to victory. The Vets won it with a 10-run fourth inning putting the game out of reach for the Hotel nine.

Bob Kinsey was four-for-four at the plate while Rick Watson and Randy McVay had three hits each in three trips to pace the Vets' 14-hit attack.

He didn't get his entry filed in time, and the Royal and Ancient let it be known — with regrets — that it plays no favorites.

"I telephoned the Royal and Ancient and told them of Ken's desire to play," said Joseph C. Dey, executive director of the U. S. Golf Association. "They were very nice. They didn't say 'no' immediately."

"They apparently discussed it, then they called back and said they were unable to accept his entry. Entries closed May 31."

Of course, when they were taking applications for the 104-year-old grandpappy of tournaments, Venturi had no idea that he might want to play.

In the throes of an extended slump, he probably would have found it hard to pay expenses. But winning the U.S. Open last weekend in Washington changed things.

"I'd love to play," Venturi said, "but I understand — rules are rules."

The U. S. Golf Association gives an automatic pass to the British champion in the American tournament. The British don't reciprocate.

Venturi and his pretty wife, Conni, left today for Cleveland and his next start, the Cleveland Open this weekend. Both were still reeling from the events of the last few days — the dramatic, come-from-behind victory in the sweltering Washington heat and the mad merry-go-round aftermath.

Venturi said he feared he might not be able to play the last round Saturday. He almost blacked out from heat prostration on the morning round and had to be accompanied by a doctor during the afternoon.

Potters, Roger's 1st National Win Minor Contests

Jimmy Baumgarner allowed only one hit and his teammates gave him solid backing in a 28-6 win for Potters Bank & Trust over M & A Motors Monday in the Minor League.

First National Bank handed T.S.&T. a 10-7 setback and Roger's Drive-In nipped Pusateri's in a slugfest, 13-12.

Baumgarner struck out 14 and his catcher Bob Roberson led the attack with five hits and stole home twice. Dan Coakley and Dick Plumley had three hits apiece for Potters Bank.

Ross Fiorello, Jeff Martin and Don Carpenter slugged three hits each in pacing First National's victory. Dan Looman was the winning hurler while R. Reed got the loss. Berry Silva's three safeties topped T.S.&T.

Roger's Drive-In had to stave off a last ditch attempt by Pusateri's which scored five runs in the last inning only to fall short by one.

Tom Coplin's three hits and two by Hanlin paced Rogers while George Hill was the winning hurler. Davis had two safeties for Pusateri's.

New Yorker Will Tell You That Speed Pays
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Harlan Weaver will tell you speed pays. The speedometer on Weaver's automobile was stuck at 80. A garage man said it would cost $20 to repair.

Monday Weaver was caught in a radar trap and fined $10. But the radar apparently corrected an electrical fault, and the speedometer works perfectly now.

Weaver figures he saved $10.

Vote Recount Nearing End For Hancock

Hancock County officials were to wrap up the job of recounting May 12 primary ballots today with only the close race between William C. Graham and Alvin B. Clutter for Chester as the Democratic nomination as county commissioner to be decided officially.

As the recount continued this morning at the Courthouse in New Cumberland, Graham, the incumbent county commissioner, led Clutter by 40 votes, a gain of five from Saturday.

Ballots cast in Clay and Butler Districts were recounted entirely on Monday and officials also recounted those cast in Precinct 8 in Grant District.

Yesterday, Graham gained four votes and Clutter lost one, giving Graham 4,589 and Clutter 4,549 with only five precincts remaining to be recounted.

After the recount of Clay District ballots was finished Monday afternoon, John Thayer was certified officially as the winner over Winfred Martin for Clay District Democratic justice of the peace.

Thayer led by 11 votes after the official canvass, and his final margin was 17 votes over Martin. Their totals are Thayer 492, and Martin, 475.

At the start of the recount, Graham had led Clutter by 47 votes for the nomination. His lead has fluctuated between 35 and 40 votes as the recount progressed.

In Wake Of High Court Order Nolan Will Seek To Void Nominations In Ohio

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Cleveland public relations man plans to ask a special federal court to nullify last month's primary election nominations of state representatives in 48 Ohio counties.

James Nolan made the statement Monday night after the U. S. Supreme Court ordered the special three-judge U. S. District Court in Cincinnati to reconsider the appeals attacking the constitutionality of the method of reapportionment of members in the Ohio House of Representatives.

Nolan is the chief backer of the suit, which contends that the famous "Hanna Amendment" to the Ohio constitution is unconstitutional.

Nolan said that when the special court reconsiders the suit, he will also ask that it declare null and void the May 8 primary elections in 48 counties.

The 48 counties, Nolan said, are those which would have to be redistricted if the Hanna Amendment is declared unconstitutional.

The amendment, approved by the voters in 1903, provides that each of Ohio's 88 counties has at least one representative in the House regardless of population.

Prior to adoption of the amendment, House apportionment was figured on a strict population basis according to the 1851 constitution.

Nolan said that 40 of Ohio's counties still derive their apportionment from the 1851 provisions, but the 48 others receive their representation from the one county - one representative formula of the Hanna amendment.

These 48 counties would be merged into 20 districts under population apportionment, Nolan said.

In its decision, the Supreme Court ordered the special federal court to hold further proceedings consistent with last Monday's Supreme Court ruling that both houses of state legislatures must be apportioned on a population basis.

The special court, composed of U. S. Appeals Court Judge Paul C. White and Federal Court Judges Carl A. Weinman and James Peck, rejected Nolan's complaint on the ground that the way is wide open for the people of Ohio to change their constitution when they desire to do so.

Nolan's appeal countered by saying such political relief can be thwarted by residents of over-represented areas of the state who benefit from unequal legislative apportionment.

Nolan claims that because of the wide variations of the populations of the various counties, the Hanna Amendment has in effect given the residents of small counties much greater voting power than the residents of the large counties.

Nolan said Judge White told him the special court would comply with the Supreme Court ruling "promptly."

"We're hoping to have the Hanna Amendment amended within two weeks," Nolan said. He said that if the court knocks out the Hanna Amendment, it should take the state apportionment board only a few days to set up the proper districts, leaving enough time for special primary elections to be held to renominate candidates for the House in the November general election.

Nolan said that basing apportionment solely on population should cut the membership of the Ohio House from 137 to 108 or 109 and save Ohio taxpayers $500,000 a year.

Backing Auto Causes Fire In Gas Station

A backing auto, which knocked over a gasoline pump, caused a fire which destroyed the pump and melted a portion of the blacktop driveway Monday afternoon at Patterson Sunoco Station, 2808 St. Clair Ave. James Patterson, owner, said Mrs. Clara Lowers of St. Clair Ave. Ext. had pulled away from the pumps and then backed to turn north on St. Clair when she accidentally bumped the pump. She misjudged the distance, Patterson said.

The impact set fire to the pump and to gasoline spilled on the driveway but attendants quickly used a dry chemical to quell the fire. Firemen were called at 2:30 p. m. to wash down the driveway.

Because of a $12,000 remodeling and addition, the pumps are not anchored securely because of the impending change of location, Patterson said.

Firemen were called to E. 9th St. below Lincoln Ave. at 8:38 p. m. when a fire damaged a car owned by Georgine Embler, 708 Avondale St.

Firemen said the engine overheated because the fan belt was broken. The fire extended to the insulation on the hood.

Apparently a defect in the wiring caused a false alarm from Box 38 at Grant St. and St. Clair Ave. at 12:03 p. m.

The box was not pulled and the alarm was received only at Central Station, Asst. Chief Alfred Van Dyne said.

Parked Autos Hit In Similar Local Traffic Mishaps

Two parked autos were struck in similar minor traffic mishaps in East Liverpool Monday, police reported.

A collision at Dresden Ave. and Smith St. at 3:55 p. m. involved a 1959 four-door sedan driven by Carolyn E. Boyle, 25, of 1310 Pennsylvania Ave. and a parked 1957 model station wagon owned by Vernon Hilton, 303 Broadway, Wellsville, officers said.

The woman said she was backing into a parking space, then decided to pull out and try again. As she maneuvered out of the space, her auto scraped the rear bumper of the Hilton car, she said.

The grille and hood of a Salineville area man's parked auto were damaged in a minor mishap at 11:30 a. m. Monday in Drury Ln., police were advised.

Police were told the 1954 auto of Joseph E. Hubbard of Salineville R. D. was damaged when struck by the car of A. J. Bott, 78, of 144 California Ave., Chester, who was maneuvering out of a parking space. There was no damage to Bott's 1963 auto, officers said.

Church-Goers Get Leniency For Citations

A man and woman accused of illegal parking on State Route 267 Sunday night while attending services at the Glenmoor United Presbyterian Church were released without penalty today when they appeared before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

The defendants were Janet MacGroom of Wellsville, R. D. 1 and George T. Kelly of M.C. Route 22, Glenmoor, both cited by the State Highway Patrol on a charge that they "created a hazard" by parking their cars so that they partially overhung the traveled portion of the highway.

In each case, Judge Chertoff imposed a fine of $10, but suspended both the fine and the $7.50 costs.

"I am not going to do anything to discourage people from going to church," the judge said. "Perhaps if more people went to church, there would be fewer in court."

The patrol said both defendants were cited at 7:20 p. m. Sunday. Queried by the court, the woman said she was unable to leave her car in the church parking lot because it was full when she arrived.

In another traffic case today, Judge Chertoff suspended fines to two more drivers.

He suspended the $10 fines and the costs in the cases of Herman Hoppel and Larry Charles Yost, both of R. D. 3 and both charged with speeding 65 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the Freeway.

Two other charges were dismissed. Hoppel had been accused of driving without an operator's license, but he produced a permit in court. Yost had been cited on a charge of passing over a yellow line.

Cited June 7 at the junction of the Freeway and Dresden Ave., both defendants were represented by Atty. James Primm of East Palestine.

Ken McCarty Re-Elected By City Workers

Ken McCarty, a street department employee, Monday night was named to a second term as president of Local 677, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

The local, which represents city employees in various departments, named new officers at its monthly meeting in the Travelers Hotel.

Others elected were: John Ross, vice president; Mrs. Catherine Martin, secretary; Robert Kelly, treasurer, and John Cornell, sergeant-at-arms.

Dan Bowers, Richard Waters and Richard Weaver were named to a three-member Executive Board. New trustees are: Mrs. Ruth Fetty, one year; Mrs. Leah Kelly, two years, and George Fone, three years.

The local voted to accept Wellsville city employees as members.

Twenty-five attended. McCarty presided. Refreshments were served.

Next meeting will be Monday, July 27, at the hotel.

Crews At Wellsville Paint Parking Lines

Street crews at Wellsville today started painting parking lines along the streets.

Centerlines were painted by a machine Saturday. All the yellow curbs have been painted also, according to Safety-Service Director Fred Baldasare.

Arrows were marked on the bridge on Wells Ave. for through traffic and to turn onto Route 45. Yellow was used as it stands out better, the director said.

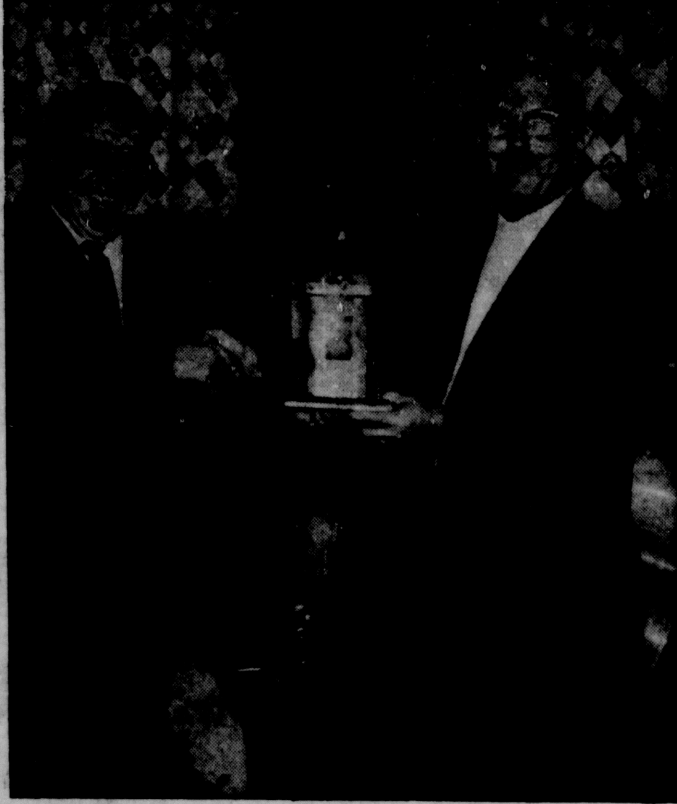

Summer maintenance is continuing at the city parks. Children have been playing in the fountains in Broadway park and have been clogging the drains, the director said. Blacktop patching is continuing.

To Stem Communist Tide In Asia

U.S. Seen Willing To Risk War With Red Chinese

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many Congress members indicated belief today that the administration has decided it is willing to risk war with Red China to prevent Communist forces from overrunning Southeast Asia.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said for one he was apprehensive about "a general expansion of the war in Southeast Asia" but he added in an interview: "I think they (administration officials) have made up their minds to expand the war."

Aiken, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he hoped that if that decision is made it would be based on "an understanding with Russia that Russia will keep hands off."

"Maybe they can get a way with it in Viet Nam and Laos if the Russians agree to stand back," Aiken said. "The President has to make the decision as to whether we have general war in Asia."

Although few others on Capitol Hill would comment publicly on the situation, Aiken's appraisal that a decision had been reached appeared to be shared by many others after a series of weekend rumblings — above and below the surface — in official circles.

One of these came Monday when Gen. Paul D. Harkins, retiring after more than two years as U.S. commander in South Viet Nam, declared it would be "very much" worth risking war with Peking to save South Viet Nam.

"If the Communists move down into Southeast Asia, it threatens the whole rest of that part of the world," Harkins told reporters on arriving home.

Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., promptly asked the Pentagon to arrange for the four-star general to testify before the House Foreign Affairs Far-Eastern subcommittee.

"I certainly hope we would not have to risk war with Red China," Zablocki said in an interview. "I agree with the general that Southeast Asia is important to the free world—and every effort should be made to prevent the Communists from broadening their position. But I believe it can be done without inviting all-out war."

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, faced prospects of further questioning on the Southeast Asian situation during scheduled close-door testimony today before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. They were to testify in support of President Johnson's $3.5-billion foreign aid requests.

Sen. Kennedy Progressing, Report Says

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., who faces 10 to 12 days of immobility in an orthopedic bed to permit his broken back to heal, is keeping up with the news of the world outside his hospital room.

The late president's brother, at 32 the youngest member of the U.S. Senate, is reported to be making continued progress in overcoming the serious injuries he suffered last Friday night in an airplane crash at nearby Southampton.

Doctors at Cooley Dickinson Hospital said the senator asked for newspapers Monday and spent some time listening to radio broadcasts, mostly music.

Funeral services were scheduled today for the two men who died when the twin-engine private plane plunged into an apple orchard in fog and drizzle while approaching Barnes Airport at Westfield.

For the pilot, Edwin T. Zimny, 48, there was a solemn Requiem Mass at the Polish Immaculate Conception National Catholic church, Lawrence, and a similar service at St. Augustine's Catholic church, Andover, for Edward S. Moss, 41, Kennedy administrative aide, a father of two children.

An autopsy report Monday night silenced rumors that Zimny might have become ill just before the crash. Dr. E. Donald Andrew, Easthampton medical examiner, said the autopsy did not reveal any physical condition which could have caused the pilot to lose control.

The medical bulletins on Kennedy's condition continued encouraging.

Dr. Thomas F. Corriden, the hospital's chief surgeon, described the senator's neurological condition as satisfactory, his orthopedic condition as improving, and his abdomen, which had given some discomfort earlier, as "getting softer."

The surgeon said Kennedy had taken fluids by mouth and also was being fed intravenously.

The conditions of Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and his blonde wife, Marvella, were described as good to excellent.

County GOP Hears Report

LISBON — A report of the state meeting last week for county chairmen and chairwomen featured the Columbiana County Republican Advisory Council's noon luncheon Monday at the Wick Hotel with Atty. Charles Pike, county chairman, presiding.

Atty. Pike said he, and Miss Gladys DeBoit of East Liverpool, county chairwoman, and 18th district committeewoman, Mrs. Letha Astry, of Salem attended the session last Thursday in Columbus. Also making the trip was Mrs. Alton Fouts of Columbiana, who attended a finance meeting. Mrs. Fouts has been appointed chairman of the neighbor-to-neighbor campaign for finance for the northern section of the county.

The council heard a recording by former President Dwight Eisenhower, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, Sen. Barry Goldwater and former vice president Richard M. Nixon.

Announcement was made of a GOP event to be held in Salem tonight at 8 at the Centry building with a card party, round and square dancing and a buffet lunch. Mrs. Eugene Esterly said a coverd picnic will be held at the new pavilion at City Park in East Palestine Wednesday at 6:30 p. m.

English Gets Attention Of Cuban Pupils

HAVANA (AP)—The teacher's questions boomed out in clear, crisp English:

"Whose classroom is this?"

The answer from the 15 students came back in unison, in English equally clear and crisp:

"It is ours."

English is the only required foreign language in Cuba's school system.

"You shouldn't be surprised that we require the study of your language," the teacher told a U.S. visitor. "It's only logical."

"Why should we allow ideological differences between our government and yours to affect our teaching of a language that is so necessary these days in international dealings and advanced technological study?"

All Cuban students must begin studying English in the seventh grade and continue through the ninth. From the 10th through the 12th grades those who have demonstrated an adequate knowledge of English may switch to French.

Experimentation is being carried out with classes in Russian for the same grades. Students who want to learn Russian also may do so in special language schools where many other languages also are taught. The experimental classes in Russian are being held at the Education Ministry's sprawling complex of headquarters and school centers called Liberty City.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruise —

Dear Heloise: We grow greenhouse tomatoes and are very proud of their quality. We wish the consumer to enjoy their quality also.

It makes us sad to pass homes and see tomatoes perched on a window sill in the bright sunlight.

May I tell people how to ripen their tomatoes to get the best possible quality?

The tomato is placed calyx (stem end) side down on the counter or some convenient place at room temperature away from the sunlight.

When it is ripened to one's taste, refrigerate and your tomato will keep for a couple of weeks.

Sunlight will scald the tomato before it is properly ripened inside.

JESSIE ROOT.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is a hint I would like to share with all you girls who want to lose weight but who get so hungry while cooking for your family.

Before you start to prepare a meal, put lots of perfume around your neck and shoulders, then fix your face, check your posture and think about how much prettier you are going to be. You will smell so beautiful you can't forget.

When the food starts cooking, all you can smell is perfume—instead of the dinner you are cooking—and you won't get so hungry.

JILL.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a tip for those who live in hard water areas and who have aerator type faucets in their sinks.

These faucets often become clogged with minerals and start behaving like a spray after a while. To correct this, simply unscrew the cap on the end of the faucet and remove the copper screening. Put the cap and the screening discs in a small pan, cover with vinegar, and boil about 10 minutes.

This method removes every bit of sediment and minerals and is so much easier than any other method I have ever tried. What's more, the parts come out clean and shining, and your faucet works like new again.

DORIS E. THOMSON.

When you remove the cap, be sure to see which screen goes back into the cap first, because some faucets have two or three screens and they must be put back in their proper positions.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: If travelers would place their name and address on the inside of their cameras, the owners of curios shops, etc., could mail the forgotten camera back to the owner.

MRS. THERESA SMITH.

DEAR HELOISE: Sometimes a lace slip top comes up too high under the arm no matter how low you adjust it by the shoulder straps.

Here's what I did:

I cut away the lace so that it would be comfortable. Then I took fine crocheted thread and with a fine hook, single crocheted right through the lace, giving it a fine strong finish. Voila! The slip can now be worn with comfort.

Doctor Warns Against Quick Reducing

Americans are afflicted with creeping overweight. . . insidiously the pounds sneak on. However, when they finally decide to rout the fat, they want no part of creeping reducing. Most dieters yearn to reduce as fast as possible, or faster.

An M.D. has taken the Ida Jean Kain trouble to write your dietitian, pointing out that no mention was made of the amount of time it took the 210 pound dieter to lose 85 pounds. To quote from this letter:

"I believe it entirely important that you emphasize the necessity for weight loss in this 210 pounder. But if there is no mention of the time it took this lady to lose her 85 pounds, it could be a serious matter. Weight loss is an important factor in maintaining health for many overweight individuals, but a too rapid weight loss can be just as serious.

"THE OCCURRENCE of acute ulceration of the stomach is not uncommon, and the development within a short while of gallstones is also not infrequent in people who attempt to lose rapidly. Therefore, let me caution your readers that weight loss must be done in a sensible fashion with due consideration of the physical and chemical requirements of the body," he warned.

I greatly appreciate the fact that this busy doctor took the time to write in order to emphasize the importance of reducing, and to stress the dangers of too fast weight loss. The 210 pound dieter did reduce as a brisk clip. In fact, she reduced so fast that I purposely did not stipulate the time element. The young woman had been reducing off and on for 10 years. At the time I tried to encourage her, she was under her doctor's care. Later, when she finally made up her mind to carry through and lick her weight problem to a standstill, she proceeded with all possible speed. She did this on her own and wrote to report her success.

THE ONE thing in this dieter's favor was this: She exercised vigorously, doing a hard, physical outdoor work. During her reducing stint she built a rock garden, lugging every one of the 300 big rocks; dug out and hauled off a good 100 wheelbarrow loads of clay soil and replaced it with topsoil for her gardens. She also tore down and is now rebuilding a back porch. And in the summertime she swims almost daily . . . really swims.

In short, she put the fat to work. She curbed calories and stepped up the heavy outdoor work to which she was accustomed and which she loved to do.

It is important to note that not many excessively overweight individuals should or could work off the fat in this fashion. This rugged worker reduced 85 pounds in slightly less than one year, which under the usual circumstances is too fast to be safe.

Ohioan Pulls Youth From Ontario Pool

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP) — James Tyrer of Galion, Ohio, was credited with saving the life of a Michigan youth who disappeared beneath the surface of a motel swimming pool Monday.

Police said there was no one else in the pool when Randall Schwanitz, 18, of Pigeon, Mich., went under and it was several minutes before he was missed. Tyrer found Schwanitz on the bottom, pulled him out unconscious and together with a girl gave artificial respiration until firemen arrived. Schwanitz was reported in critical condition at a hospital.

Boston Doctor Due Presidency Of AMA

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dr. Norman A. Welch of Boston takes over the presidency of the American Medical Association tonight.

The AMA is holding its 113th annual convention in San Francisco.

Negro Lawyer Named As Director Of Firm

NEW YORK (AP) — Samuel R. Pierce Jr., a Negro lawyer, has been elected a director of U.S. Industries, Inc., a manufacturing company with sales at about $120 million a year.

His law partner, Theodore W. Kheel, said Monday Pierce is the first Negro to have a policymaking position in a large American corporation doing business internationally.

"And not because he's a Negro, but because he's qualified," Kheel said. "U.S. Industries has no Negro business. Sam's presence will not make a nickel's worth of business for them."

Detroit Firm Slates Move To Ohio Plant

DETROIT (AP) — The machinery of Federal Cigar Co., a firm acquired by D. W. G. Cigar Corp. of Detroit, is expected to be moved to D. W. G.'s main plant at Lima, Ohio.

Purchase of the assets of Federal Cigar of Red Lion, Pa., was announced Monday. Purchase price was not disclosed.

Former Editor Dies

LONDON (AP) — Jane Heap, onetime editor of the Little Review, a magazine that played a leading role in the literary renaissance of the 1920s, died last Thursday, friends revealed Monday. She was co-editor of the magazine when it published James Joyce's "Ulysses" in 23 installments.

Income Tax Hike Eyed In Health Care

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican Platform Committee plans to consider a proposal to raise income taxes—rather than Social Security taxes—to pay for health care for the aged.

"We have always favored progressive taxes rather than regressive taxes," said Rep. Melvin R. Laird, R-Wis., chairman of the committee that meets in San Francisco next month.

"An increase in the Social Security tax, as the Democrats have proposed to pay for their medical care program, would weigh heaviest on those least able to pay," he said in an interview.

The Social Security tax is deducted only from the first $4,800 of earnings, so that a laborer earning that much pays as much tax as a millionaire.

Laird said his party has always stood for taxes such as the graduated income tax under which amount of the tax depends on the ability to pay.

Laird said that while New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller favors using Social Security taxes to pay for health care for the aged, the general revenue approach is backed by Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania.

He said the proposal to raise income taxes to pay for such health care came from an economics professor at a leading university at the request of platform committee officials. The professor was not identified.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Sgt. Alvin York, 76, hero of World War I, is listed in satisfactory condition at the Veterans Hospital in Nashville.

York entered the hospital Friday with internal bleeding.

MOSCOW (AP) — Nikolai S. Patolichev, 56, Soviet minister of foreign trade, was reported to have "suffered a collapse" just before beginning talks with a delegation of Italian businessmen.

Italian sources in Moscow said Monday a Foreign Trade Ministry spokesman informed the Italian Embassy that Patolichev had suffered a collapse and couldn't attend the talks. The nature of his illness wasn't disclosed.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Anatoly F. Dobrynin, Soviet ambassador to the United States, says that "little by little" relations between this country and Russia "are moving in the right direction."

The ambassador, in a speech Monday to the World Trade Club at San Francisco, said "people everywhere want to believe in peace," and added: "I believe you Americans don't want war."

OFF THE RECORD

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I remove old linoleum from the floor more easily?

A. Place dry ice in a burlap bag, and place this on the linoleum to be removed, moving it about the surface as you work. The dry ice makes the linoleum brittle, so that it will slip up and come off in large pieces.

Q. What is a good way to prepare parsley for garnishing?

A. Chop the parsley very fine, place it in a cloth, squeeze the cloth very tightly, hold it under the cold-water faucet for a half-minute, and then squeeze again until all the water is out.

Q. When packing away important documents, how can I insure against their turning yellow with age?

A. By wrapping these documents in blue tissue paper, or in cloth dyed with bluing.

Q. How can I facilitate the job of opening a jar or can of glue?

A. Fill the container with boiling water, then allow this to cool. The paraffin will float to the surface of the water.

A. If you'll seal the opening of your glue container with a stub of an old candle or with strips of cellulose tape, your usual problem of opening the container will no longer be a problem.

Q. How can I cause the candles on a birthday cake to light instantly at the appropriate moment?

A. By applying a drop of fingernail polish to the tip of each candle wick sometime beforehand.

Q. How can I remedy a door that persists in rubbing at the top or against the floor or threshold?

A. Tack a piece of coarse sandpaper to the frame of the door at the top or to the floor or threshold below, then open and close the door repeatedly over this "self-sander" until the door moves freely.

Q. How can I remove paraffin easily from a container in which it has been melted for canning?

A. Fill the container with boiling water, then allow this to cool. The paraffin will float to the surface of the water.

Junior Editors Quiz on HORSES

QUESTION: Why is one kind of horse called a "Walking Horse?"

ANSWER: This question usually is asked when someone mentions the Tennessee Walking Horse, since, as everyone knows, all horses can walk. This is true, but the Tennessee Walker walks in a different way from others.

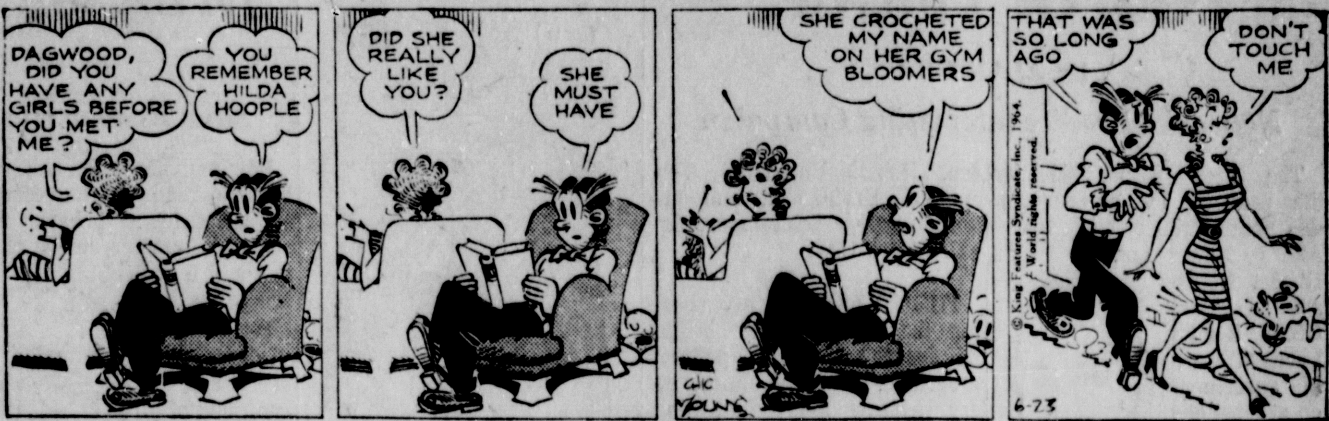

This unusual breed, developed in central Tennessee over 100 years ago, is a combination of the Standardbred, Morgan, Thoroughbred and American Saddle Horse strains. It was developed because of the need on southern plantations for a gentle, comfortable horse which could also move rapidly. Some of the Tennessee horses had a faster, smoother walk than others, a kind of running walk which gave the effect of gliding and was very pleasant to the rider. Horses with this gait were deliberately developed, until a special breed had been created. Notice the long stride of the Walking Horse as shown in the picture.

Over the years, the comfort and smooth ride of the Tennessee Walker has made the breed appreciated in many parts of the United States and it is now rapidly spreading westward, as this horse has been found to be an excellent mount in rugged country.

FOR YOU TO DO: Color the Walking Horse a light brown which will contrast nicely with a green background on the plants. Use your imagination to select colors for the girl's shirt, coat and jodhpurs.

Kate Hartley of Duluth, Minn., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Dictionary plus $10 cash, for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you may win the weekly grand prize of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia.

Networks Predict Interesting Campaign

The men responsible for the network TV coverage of this presidential election year—ABC's Elmer Lower, NBC's

Alan Gill

Robert Northshield and CBS's Bill Leonard—are in agreement on at least one point: The '64 conventions will be sizzlers.

"There has not been a good slambang convention in a while now," said Lower, "though Kennedy did enliven things four years ago with his youth, his Catholicism and his drive."

"If the Republicans pick Goldwater, it will be a very interesting year, indeed. He will hardly be what you'd call a 'me too' candidate." (These words were spoken, by the way, before William Scranton shook the pillars of the temple in Maryland.)

"No matter what happens, and even if Goldwater takes it on the first ballot," said Bill Leonard in a pre-Maryland interview, "I'd bet money that the Republican convention will be more interesting than the Nixon convention of '60."

"As far as TV is concerned, the low point in conventions came in '56, when Eisenhower and Stevenson squared off a second time. The classic conventions, though, came in 1952—both of them. Great ones!"

NORTHSHIELD'S most vivid memory of conventions is that of the Democrats' whoop-oof of '48, with Alben Barkley's great keynote address and the Dixiecrat walkout.

But, he adds, "I've never seen a dull one. Even at Atlantic City this year there'll be lots of excitement. There will be a President dominating it and you can't have a dull president. Also, the nominees for vice president this time will be plenty interesting."

In pursuit of a huge national audience for these large events, the three networks will be spending their fool heads off—ABC between $5.5 and $6 million for the year, NBC and CBS more than $10 million each. At stake is nothing less than the prestige of their news operations, and in some mystical way, the integrity of their corporate images.

NBC has been carrying off the largest share of the viewing audience ever since the conventions of 1956, when somebody introduced Chet to David; and CBS has been grinding its teeth for eight years now.

ABC meanwhile, hopes to get into the running with an excellent team of anchor-men, Howard K. Smith and Edward P. Morgan, and a powerful battery of "consultants": Dwight D. Eisenhower at San Francisco and Sen. Hubert Humphrey, Sen. Sam J. Ervin, Jr., and historian Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., at Atlantic City.

THE NETWORKS are shooting their election-year budget on dozens of special political programs, covering almost every facet of the campaigning. Across the dial every night as the Republican and Democratic conventions near, there will be thorough reports on pre-convention activity, particularly in the platform committees.

There will be specials on the two convention cities (ABC), on the great conventions of the past (CBS), on "Republican Women in Politics" and "Democratic Women in Politics" (ABC).

The convention-time programs of such regular series as "Sunday," "Meet the Press," "Discovery," "Issues and Answers," and "CBS Reports" will naturally be turned over to the personalities and issues at hand.

THROUGH the post-convention campaigning, politics will be given all the TV air time you could wish.

In early fall, on CBS alone, we shall be regaled with reports on the mid-century "revolution in Politics," on the powers of the presidency, on political humor, on the senatorial and congressional campaigns, on minority parties and candidates, on "The Big Lie" as it has been used through our political history, and on the problem of presidential incapacity.

If politics does not make your soul leap and your heart beat faster, it has become plain that the time has arrived for you to throw a paisley shawl over your TV screen. It can come off again on Nov. 4.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Slow Reader Has Trouble With Lessons

How pathetic is the child who hates to read. From Indiana a mother writes: "I have a 14-year-old daughter, in the eighth grade of school, who hates to read."

"I have done everything I can think of to get her to like to read, but still she doesn't like to. So I thought of you and Dr. Garry Myers thought you might make some suggestions."

"She knows how to pronounce the words and can sound out and get many words that others can't."

"Not liking to read holds her up in school and makes it hard for her to get her lessons."

"She stayed in the fourth grade a second year, because of her reading. The teacher said then she never knew anyone who hated to read as much as my daughter does."

"I'VE READ to her, asked her to read to me, bought books on things she likes, had her eyes and ears tested."

"So if you have any suggestions that might help, I will appreciate hearing them."

My reply, in part. It is apparent that your daughter hates to read because she has never learned to read well. Even though she can pronounce words, she doesn't get meaning from them.

If you are able to win her cooperation you might help her find in the library easy books for her to read, ones that she would be interested in. Have her try books with lots of pictures. But no one should make her feel then that she is doing something very babyish.

She needs to do this so as to get skill from reading easy words and reading harder ones later. The chances are that the books she can read will be no harder than for the average child in the second or third grade. But after a while she may grow to be able to read much harder material.

WHEN SHE IS doing her homework and reading from assignments, you ought to help her. Read aloud these assignments to her and help her turn paragraphs into her own words in a sentence or so.

If I were you parents I would, at almost any sacrifice, hire a kind and quiet teacher to work with her on reading for a half hour or so a day. This tutor should observe the principles I have just pointed out.

If there is a reading clinic within reach, you should take your daughter there. It would be wonderful if she would often read to a preschool child for his amusement. There's no better way for her to learn to read better.

My bulletins, "Home Helps for Poor Readers I & II," may be secured by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.
